"LIKE-FARMING" ON FACEBOOK

Be careful what you "like" on Facebook. Note where it's coming from. If you don't know, don't click. If content promises you anything for liking or sharing, it's probably a scam.

"Like Farming" on Facebook is a story placed on a page anticipating from you a positive response (like) and then having you "share" the story. When enough likes and shares are registered through this Facebook story, the scammer can edit it and add something malicious. The like-farmer either removes the page's original content and replaces it with something else (usually malware or scam advertising); leaves the page as is and uses it as a platform for continued like-farming in order to spread malware, collect people's marketing information or engage in other harmful activities; or outright sells the highly liked site to cybercriminals in a black market web forum.

iOS UPDATE 10.3.1 FOR iPhone AND iPad AND iPod Touch

If security is of importance to you on your mobile devices, you should update to 10.3.1 that was introduced in April 3, 2017. Updating from 10.3 brings a single security patch for a potential Wi-Fi exploit. However, and this is significant, upgrading from previous OS's such as iOS 10, iOS 10.2.1 will bring over 60 patches including a ransomware bug used by scammers to extort iOS users who viewed pornography on their device. The update delivers a new Find My AirPods feature that's located inside of the Find My iPhone application.

Requirements:

iPhone 5 and later

iPad 4th generation and later

iPod touch 6th generation and later

The website discusses reasons you should/should not install 10.3.1.

<http://www.gottabemobile.com/4-reasons-not-to-install-ios-10-3-5-reasons-you-should/>

If you do install 10.3.1, Gary Rosenzweig has a 3.51 minute video (#1370) that demonstrates the new settings.
